 In 2020, we introduced a new design category: Public Good in the Cause of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion. This award aims to celebrate and encourage projects that engage with minoritized and/or low-income communities through the design and building of architecture, interiors and/or landscapes that mitigate deficits and inequalities in housing, education, culture, health, other public services, public and/or community spaces, landscapes and/or infrastructure. These projects may be private, public, NGO or community driven projects. These projects also should have had a community-engaged, participatory design/planning component in addition to measurable indicators of their impact. Also included in this category are pro-bono projects with a social impact. (And, projects entered in this category may be entered in other categories in the awards program.)*

To complete this project portfolio, add up to 10 additional PDF pages showing the project. You will need to create each page or collage page and save it as a horizontal / landscape PDF page. You can place more than one image on a page. You can include a few comments next to some images (but no text overlaid on the images). If you want an image to be the full width of the page, then do not include any comments on that page. Low-resolution images must be used for the project entry. (We are asking for a separate hi-res image for use in publicity.) The final project entry submission file cannot be more than 10 MB total. Entry submission deadline: September 13, 2024.*
