

University of Arkansas, Bachelor of Interior Design, Student Achievement Data

Job Placement: 100 percent of May 2016 graduates who actively pursued employment were employed within three months of graduation. Of those, 80 percent had employment immediately following graduation, and 20 percent secured employment within one to three months of graduation.

Acceptance into Graduate Programs: None of the May 2016 graduating class had applied for graduate school as of March 2017.

Graduation Rates: 67 percent of the 2016 Bachelor of Interior Design graduates completed their degrees within four years. The remaining 33 percent completed the degree within five years.

Attrition Rates: For interior design students, the attrition rate is highest during the first semester of studio. Of freshmen enrolled in the 2015 fall semester, 46 percent changed majors or left the university before the 2016 spring semester; an additional 8 percent left the program during the 2016 spring semester.