Teaching Equipment and Laboratory Enhancement (TELE) Fees – All Majors

Telefees are used to provide and maintain state-of-the-art classroom equipment and instructional equipment. They are assessed on a per-credit-hour basis. Currently, Telefees for the Fay Jones School are $32.60* per credit hour.

Studio Fee – Interior Design Only

Students in the interior design program are assessed a fee (currently $15.00 per credit hour*) each semester they are enrolled in an interior design studio course. The Studio Fee is non-refundable with no exceptions.

Studio Field Trips – All Majors

Students enrolled in our professional degree programs can expect to travel once or twice a year with their design studios. Instructors provide estimated cost per student as far in advance of travel as possible. Students should budget $500-$900 per studio field trip.

Travel Fee – Interior Design Only

Students in the interior design program are assessed a fee (currently $100 per semester*) each fall and spring semester, which is subsequently applied to the cost of studio field trips. Travel Fees are nonrefundable with no exceptions.

International Study Fee – Architecture and Landscape Architecture Only

All students in the professional programs of Architecture and Landscape Architecture are required to study abroad. Architecture students typically spend a semester at the University's Rome Center in the spring of fourth year or the fall of fifth year. (A summer program in Mexico is often an option as well.) Landscape Architecture students travel to the Rome Center in the summer following their second year. A fee of $656.75* per semester (fall and spring) is assessed each student until they study abroad for the support of the School's international programs. This fee helps offset costs of maintaining off-campus programs that are not a part of the School's University-funded budget. When the student studies abroad, they will be assessed for any remaining semesters plus any additional program costs not covered by the international study fees. International Study Fees are non-refundable with no exceptions.

*Fees are subject to change at any time.
