WHAT DO STUDENTS DO IN A TYPICAL WEEK OF DESIGN CAMP?

During the week of Design Camp, students will be engaged in hands-on projects, presentations by Fay Jones School faculty and students, tours of local design projects, discussions and visits from local designers, all with the intention of teaching the students about the design professions, which include architecture, landscape architecture and interior design.

Past projects have included designing an outdoor classroom or a café, where the students plan out their design through sketching and model building. Students will also learn terms used by designers and how to observe and record the world around them through notes and sketching activities.

The tours usually occupy one day of camp. In the past, these have included Cooper Memorial Chapel, Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art, Keenan TowerHouse, the University of Arkansas Community Design Center and local architecture and design firms, along with walking tours of the University of Arkansas campus and downtown Fayetteville.

During the week of camp, students will also have the opportunity to meet with the School's advisors to learn how they can start preparing themselves in high school for a career in the design professions.

WHAT COVID-19 PRECAUTIONS WILL BE TAKEN FOR IN-PERSON DESIGN CAMP?

The in-person Design Camps will fully comply with all state, local and university guidelines regarding COVID-19.

WHAT SHOULD MY STUDENT BRING TO IN-PERSON DESIGN CAMP?

If your student enrolls in the Fayetteville overnight camp, you will receive a list of recommended items to bring as well as pointers on what to leave at home. All campers should bring a backpack and a water bottle, and they should wear comfortable shoes, as we typically walk a little bit each day of camp. All supplies will be provided. Lunch and snacks will be provided each day.

WHAT SUPPLIES DOES MY STUDENT NEED TO COMPLETE VIRTUAL DESIGN CAMP?

The projects in the virtual design camp programs typically can be completed with household supplies, or you can purchase an optional materials kit during registration. You'll need scissors, a ruler, sketching tools (pencils, colored pencils, etc.), and building materials (Paper and cardboard are required. Optional materials include fabric, popsicle sticks, yarn or string, wire, aluminum foil, clay, etc.).

WHO TEACHES THE STUDENTS AT IN-PERSON AND SCHOOL-GUIDED DESIGN CAMP?

The students are led by faculty and student teaching assistants from the Fay Jones School of Architecture and Design who are in the Departments of Architecture, Landscape Architecture or Interior Design. We have a ratio of approximately one faculty and one teaching assistant per 15 Design Camp students, and we try to have an even ratio of faculty and teaching assistants from the three departments to give the students exposure to all three disciplines.

WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN DESIGN CAMP AND ADVANCED DESIGN CAMP?

Design Camp is generally for students who are attending for the first time.

The two-week Advanced Design Camp is for students who will be a junior or senior and who have attended Design Camp before, have taken classes in architecture and engineering, or worked on design projects through a mentor or other program. On the application, students will be asked a series of questions to help us gauge how much experience they have had with design in the past. Students wishing to be part of the Advanced Camp will need to apply and will be accepted based on experience level. If you have questions about whether or not your student should be enrolled in Advanced Design Camp, you can contact us and we can help determine which camp would be most appropriate.

WHAT IF MY STUDENT HAS FOOD ALLERGIES?

Indicate any allergies or dietary restrictions on your registration forms, and please be as specific as possible. Every effort will be made to accommodate your camper's needs.

WHERE DO I DROP OFF AND PICK UP MY CAMPER FOR IN-PERSON DESIGN CAMP?

Check your email for important information and updates. Approximately 10 days before camp starts, you will receive a detailed email with this and other important information. In the meantime, please contact us if your email or phone number changes after you register.

WHAT IF I CAN'T FIND A RIDE TO/FROM CAMP?

Design Camp is not responsible for transporting students to or from camp; however, we recognize that there may be scheduling conflicts that keep you from being able to bring your student to camp. If that is the case, please contact us, and we will try and connect you with another camper who lives nearby to carpool.

CAN I PICK MY STUDENT UP EARLY FROM IN-PERSON CAMP ON FRIDAY TO GET A START ON THE WEEKEND?

We strongly encourage you to allow your student to remain at camp for the full day on Friday. Students will present their work at a reception that afternoon.
